PROactive PRONUNCIATION

Voiceless “Th” Initial Sentences

Be sure to keep your tongue tip out and blow for the “th”!

Thank you for the therapy session
She threw a party at the theatre on Thursday
I thought that Thanksgiving was three days ago
I don’t love what has happened to my thighs at thirty
Thank you for thinking of me on my thirtieth Birthday
There was a tight feeling in my throat when I threw that picture away
He taught me a thing or two when I finished my thesis on the topic
The thief and the thug went through the drive-thru
I heard a thud in the movie theatre
He would never report the theft because they were thicker than thieves
The gravy was too thin, so I added starch to thicken it to a thicker paste
I found a thin piece of wood in the thicket
I was thigh-deep in the thick thistles and thorns
I have thirty-three pairs of thong sandals
These are the things that I think of when I’m in the throngs of emotion
I thought about how thirsty for water I was
The thrifty shopper only shops in thrift stores
The threat of snow is a thorn in my side
I held my throbbing thumb as I wandered through the path
I got a sore throat on Thanksgiving Day
I threw three or four spools of thread to her
She threw it out on Thursday
The thermometer shows the meat has not fully thawed