PROactive PRONUNCIATION

“J” End Sentences

With age comes knowledge

He received a badge on stage

Was the cage under the bridge?

I found the message in the garbage can

The Judge was known to harbor a grudge

Who would ever throw fudge in the garbage?

A large block of fudge tastes better than cabbage

A large range of new images surged on the internet

I got a message from the Judge while I was at College

The village view is gorgeous at the edge of the bridge

The marriage rates are low in the village on the ridge

She arrived at her cottage with her large luggage in hand

In my luggage, there is a package and some postage stamps

I would like a sausage and a beverage, but no cabbage, thank you.

The man lunged away from the animal in the cage to avoid any damage

If you speak the language of love, you won't damage your marriage