PROactive PRONUNCIATION

“R” vs. “L” Minimal Pair Sentences

The girls raced to be first to choose the best lace
The gym lacked racks for the equipment
Someone threw a rake in the lake
A ram and a lamb are very different animals
She walked through the rain in the lane to get home
I dropped my chicken wrap all over my lap
Always remove your makeup at night to avoid a rash on your eyelashes
If you pay the bill late, your rate will increase
I’d rather lather on liquid soap than use a bar of soap
Ray decided to lay down
If you’re the leader of the group, you’ll have to be a good reader
She led me to a red car
The rental smelled like lentil soup
Rick licked his ice cream cone
He stood right in the light
The writer decided to take a lighter approach in his writing
The boy fell and felt a small rip on his lip
Someone dropped a load of their groceries on the road by accident
If you’re wrong, don’t take too long to admit it
My grandmother never used that loom in the sewing room
Throw the apples out, or they’ll rot a lot more than they already have Wear a seatbelt so you can be sure to arrive alive
You are correct to collect your belongings after the flight