PROactive PRONUNCIATION

OR Sentences

Get more iron ore
Pour the coarse flour
We haven't had world war four
We need more forks on the table
A horse will never eat an orange
The landlord can't afford new floors
This cord is too short to reach the floor
The forest floor was covered in thorns
I finished everything on my chore board
I'm going to knock on three more doors
The chorus sang beautifully with the organ
I read her a story during the lightning storm
She was bored doing her chores all morning
Let's shop at more stores around the corner
There are four more storms on the north shore
There are three or four more reports over here
I want to open a store by the seashore up North
The corn from the store was even tastier than before
Another four more stories were heard before that one
Let's eat popcorn during the movie, and I'll pour you more to drink
Four more pairs of shorts had stains on them after the boys played sports
There's more rain coming in the storm
Put your fork away
The poor girl was sitting on the floor
They declared war in the warm summer season
I have to finish four more courses
The oar of the boat was caught in even more seaweed than before