PROactive PRONUNCIATION

Z End Phrases & Sentences

Phrases:

Underlined “s’s” are pronounced as /z/, all other “s’s” will remain pronounced as /s/

baked beans	babies’ fingers	small nose worker bees	potted flowers	soft pillows say cheese	wear glasses	say please fresh cookies	garden hose	win the prize
two dogs	car keys	going to sneeze exercise outside	grab knees	three tacos

Sentences:

It is his
It was his
We won the prize
The team won two prizes
They own two dogs
It is polite to say please
Allergies made him sneeze
Don’t lose your keys
He always forgets those pens of his
He is always with his friends
He is talking to the contractors and engineers

She is wise to make sales with her customers
He likes his cookies fresh
He ordered a plate of tacos
He's always losing his car keys
His glasses helped him see
I have a couple of proposals that have deadlines
It is because she was happy
Melt the cheese so we can dip chips in it
Please clean up those cheese crumbs off the stairs
She is holding her knees
She is pointing to her nose
That is a big stack of pillows
The baby's fingers were so tiny
The potted flowers were colorful
The worker bees make honeycombs
They decided to exercise outside
They served beans at the picnic
Those things are expected in this place
Use the hose to wash your car
Who knows if he was in his thirties or if he's lying My eyes were in a daze
I looked at the pies two times
We are big fans of oldies music
Please put the girls' three bags in the closet
The computers in the offices were all replaced
She always practices after she finishes her exercises
She always places her tambourines in the same place