PROactive PRONUNCIATION

“AA” /æ/ Sentences

Don’t ask that
Have you traveled to Africa?
The animals are fast asleep
Fran did her math in the bathtub
After mass, I am going to cut the grass
Travis has a plaster cast on his hand
The graduate sang for the headmaster
The mine shaft was filled with laughter
They have a lot of brass in that jazz band
Andy has a big appetite for candy apples
Jack likes to play Candy Land and Scrabble
The actor took aspirin and sat by a fan
Cathy took the wrong path to the gas station
Jan, you shouldn’t laugh when you eat taffy
My aunt Afra bought an antique ashtray in Africa
Sam had a bad attitude about his academic classes
Ask Pam if she can pass me half a glass of water
I think half of the office staff asks too many questions
Can’t you come after your acting class at the national academy?
The more you practice, the faster and more natural you will feel