PROactive PRONUNCIATION

“EH” /ɛ/ Spelling

Among the many sound substitutions, speakers can place the tongue too far back in a more neutral position to "uh," so the word "pet" /pɛt/ will sound like “putt” /p^t/. Speakers may place their tongue too low, resulting in an /a/ “ah” sound, so the word “men” /mɛn/ might sound like “mahn” /man/.

The most typical spelling for /ɛ/ is “e”

“e”: let, leg, sell, end, debt, well

“ea”: bread, head, dead

“ie”: friend

“ai”: said

“a”: any
